Working Group on Rights & Empowerment

FP 2020 – Indonesia

Background

Following the commitments made at the FP2020 Summit in London in 2012 to provide additional access to 120 million of women to voluntary family planning by the year 2020, In 2013 Indonesia established a Family Planning (FP) Country Committee to create a framework to guide coordinated efforts toward revitalizing the national family planning programs. The Committee is led by the National Population and Family Planning Board (BKKBN), co-chaired by UNFPA and USAID, and has member from a broad range of relevant international and national government institutions, NGOs and private sector representatives working in the area of family planning programs in Indonesia. Later in 2017, following the global structure, CSO as a co-chair was added into the Committee.

In order to address the need to assist Indonesia's Family Planning program in developing a framework for revitalization of right-based family planning within the context of the existing national plans and in the changing landscape toward universal access to health care, establishment of two working groups were proposed under FP 2020 Country Committee. The working groups are: (1) Working group on National Based Family Planning Strategy (2) Working group on Rights and Empowerment, later on in 2017, (3) Working Group on Data & Monitoring was established. These three working groups are expected to ensure that the family planning strategy is grounded in rights-based approaches and its implementation ensures the rights of every one including women to choose their own preference family planning methods to meet their fertility goals.

The Working group on Rights and Empowerment (WGRE) focuses on:

- Identify the current barriers that prevent women from their right to exercise access to information and services to meet their reproductive goals (policy, health system barriers such as lack of access to information, poor quality of services, financial barriers, etc., and social and cultural barriers).
- Undertake an exercise to map the landscape of existing FP programs on rights and empowerment and to create a network to ensure that implementation of the FP program is rights-based.
- Identify national and international best practices.
- Contribute to the national framework in developing a strategy to overcome the barriers and identify opportunities within the context of the national FP framework and ongoing health programs. An important element of the strategy will be male involvement, community gate keepers, and religious leaders.
- Develop strategies to improve access to information and services of adolescents to family planning and reproductive health.
- Monitor implementation of the strategy to ensure that rights are not violated.
